SYNOPSIS

A self-help guru named Mother Eve promises to reconnect six overstressed women with their feminine goddesses through a series of self-help group sessions.

With the aid of her male staff, Mother Eve encourages the women to unleash their inner skank, celebrate their cellulite, and love themselves as much as they love cheese.

As the classes progress, Mother Eve gains confidence as a life coach and the women begin to respond to her wisdom ...

... except for one, who is resistant throughout. She exposes Mother Eve as a fraud and a professional con-artist.

Thrown back into the real world, the women eventually realize their lives are better because of Mother Eve...

... so they return to the Garden where they declare their belief in Mother Eve and celebrate -- they are all hot, vibrant, gorgeous, unstoppable, sexy beasts. The Sisterhood is saved!

Seven Women; Two Men.

All actors must sing, move well, and have a strong comedic sensibility.
Roles can be played by any race or ethnicity.

MOTHER EVE (Female; 30's - 50's) A bewitching self-help guru with a secret past as a con artist. Sophisticated exterior masks her natural street-wise interior.

SNAPDRAGON: (Female; late 20's - early 40's) A happily married business woman, who is highly competitive but unable to maintain friendships with women.

BIRD OF PARADISE: (Female; early - mid 30's) Seemingly normal on the outside - cute, in shape, and employed. A few Mother Eve classes reveal she suffers from "sexual tics", a condition that causes her to blurt out inappropriate words when she finds herself in an intimate scenario.

ROSE: (Female; 20's) A sweet, unassuming stalker. Romantic and vulnerable. Gets involved with the wrong type of men.

ECHINACEA: (Female; 16) A teenager with body issues. Smart, but insecure. More naive than ditzy. Idolizes Mother Eve. (The actor cast in this role should not have anything physically unusual about her. It's important that her body issues are a product of her own mind reinforced by an obsession with teen magazines.)

RHODODENDRON: (Female; 30's) Frumpy, dumpy and unhappy. A wallflower who goes through life unnoticed by the rest of the world. Studious, thoughtful. A bookworm.

MUSTARD PLANT: (Female; 30's - 50's) A cynical, struggling journalist. Ambitious, she has not made much progress in her chosen career. She questions Mother Eve's methods and challenges her from the start.

PRACTICE GUY: (Male; 30-40) A not-quite-working actor who becomes Mother Eve's devoted assistant. Enthusiastic, earnest and sincere. (Actor also plays Boss, Mystery Man, and Alvin.)

GUITAR BOY: (Male; 20's - early 30's) Found busking in the NYC subways and Central Park. Good looking, sexy. Mother Eve recruits him to play in her class. (The actor cast must be a skilled guitarist with the ability to change seamlessly from one song to the next.)

Mother Eve's Target Market

Mother Eve has been loved and enjoyed by both men and women. It is also a fantastic date night, girl's night out, and bachelorette party spectacular.

Mother Eve's Commercial Appeal

Mother Eve's themes of female sexuality and empowerment are very timely and tie in with the popularity of The Secret, Eat, Pray, Love, Eckhart Tolle's books, and the edgy humor of Tina Fey's Bossypants and the film Bridesmaids. Theatrically, with its over the top humor and subtle heartfelt message, Mother Eve would fit in the same subversive world as Book of Mormon, Avenue Q, and Menopause the Musical.
